Eurohypo awarded “Best International Bank” in Russia
Recognition for successful work in an important market

Eschborn. Eurohypo has been presented with the “Russia-CIS Premier Real Estate Award 2007” by the specialist publishing house, Europroperty. It was named best international bank in Russia by an international jury. With this award, Europroperty is showing its recognition of the increasing international significance of the market for commercial real estate in Russia and adjoining countries such as Belarus and Ukraine. Prize winners in other categories included Jones Lang LaSalle and Clifford Chance.

“We are delighted with this accolade,” said Dr. Frank Pörschke, designated member of the Eurohypo Board of Managing Directors. “The award recognizes the excellent work of our Central and Eastern Europe business division. Above all, in the relatively short time since it was set up, our Moscow representative office has already achieved a great deal in the Russian market, a market which is important for Eurohypo.”

Eurohypo opened its Moscow office at the end of 2005 and is targeting the Russian market from there. The focus of its business activity lies in the financing and refinancing of office buildings, shopping centres, hotels and logistics property. The bank has already financed some major projects in Russia, including Europe’s largest logistics centre, “North Domodedova Logistic Park”, for its customers Eurasia Logistics to the value of USD 745 million. This is the biggest financing undertaken by Eurohypo in Russia to date.
